

FALMOUTH UNIVERSITY

-DON'T PANI(were here to help!

Studying for a degree represents a significant investment in your future, and you will no doubt be concerned about the cost of higher education.

This guide intends to help you identify the likely cost of studying and the types of financial support available to you at undergraduate level.

It is worth familiarising yourself with student finance well in advance of your enrolment. In this guide we try to look at the main forms of funding from the government and Falmouth University. There are also a number of private trusts and charities which can help students on an individual basis, and these are listed on page 12.

How Much Does it Cost?

In order to plan your finances effectively, you need to consider all the costs involved when studying and probably living away from home.

Fees for your course

Fees will vary dependent upon where you are from and are liable to potential increases in line with inflation. For students starting Higher Education in 2015-16 fees are expected to be:

UK and EU students £9,000 per year, international students TBC (fees in 2014-15 were £11,500 and we'd expect a small increase for 2015-16 starters)

Please contact our Finance department for further information on course fees:

W: falmouth.ac.uk/fees T: 01326 213778

E: student.fees@falmouth.ac.uk

The weekly rental cost for University managed halls of residence at Falmouth currently ranges from £75 to £126, although this may change before September 2015. Rent includes heating, lighting and water. Each room is furnished and the majority of rooms have provision for television, telephone and internet access. All of our residences are self-catering. Most private sector housing costs between £85 and £105 per week (excluding utility bills), depending on location, quality of the accommodation and the number of people sharing. Telephone lines and internet access will cost extra.

Please contact our accommodation office for further information:

W: falmouth.ac.uk/accommodation

T: 01326 370436

E: accommodation@fxplus.ac.uk

Additional course costs

Dependent upon your field of specialism, you may need to budget for specific materials, trips or equipment. This will vary from student to student and from course to course.

Cost of living

In addition to course costs and rent, you will of course have to budget for life itself. Again, these costs will vary from student to student, but you'll need to think about how much you might spend over the whole year. Also, remember you'll be here in Falmouth for at least the 30 weeks of term, maybe more. This list should get you started:

- Food (three meals a day, occasional meals out, snacks etc)
- Travel (in and around Falmouth, plus any trips home during, or at the end of term)
- Clothing and possessions (clothes, shoes, music, books etc)
- Leisure (do you want to join the gym or attend clubs/societies, nights out etc)
- Bills (will you have any domestic bills to pay, including mobile and internet connection?)

It's important to at least do a brief budget and we look at this in more detail on page 13: Budgeting for University.

Funding From Student Finance England

Most UK students pay for university by accessing funding from the government and possibly the University.

Many also rely on a contribution from parents and/or part-time work.

Funding from government is handled by an organisation called Student Finance England and in this section we look at the available support and how you apply. If you are a student from outside England, please see page 9: Not from England? Funding Options.

Please note that if you have studied in higher education at any point in the past, your eligibility for funding may be affected as students are usually only eligible for funding in up to four separate academic years. Please check with Student Finance England in advance of application.

Available support

Student Finance England (SFE) offers support to cover your tuition fees and help with living costs – often called 'maintenance costs'. What you will receive depends largely upon your level of household income. You only need to make one application to SFE to be considered for all of the below funds. Additional support is also available for those students with additional or specialist need (disabilities, dependants etc) and these are covered on page 8.

Tuition fee loan

(currently £9,000 a year, ie the cost of your tuition fees*)

This is money you can borrow to cover the cost of your teaching fees. UK and EU students can take out a loan for the full cost of these tuition fees which is then paid directly to Falmouth University. You do not have to take out a tuition fee loan; instead you can arrange to pay your fees up front or in two instalments (one at enrolment and one in January). For more details on how to pay your own fees, contact our Income Team at: student.fees@falmouth.ac.uk

Maintenance Loan

(currently up to £5,555 a year, subject to household income*)

This is money you can borrow to help with living costs. Only UK students can apply for a maintenance loan, which is paid in three instalments; one at the start of each term. This is worth up to £5,555 a year although the maximum you can get is reduced if you're also in receipt of the maintenance grant.

Maintenance grant

(currently up to £3,387 a year, subject to household income*)

This is a grant to help with living expenses and is non-repayable. In order to be considered for a maintenance grant you'll need to be 'income assessed' by Student Finance England. Payments will be made in three instalments, one at the start of each term and how much you get will depend on your household income. If your household income is £25,000 a year or less, you will receive the full maintenance grant of £3,387*. If your household income is between £25,001 and £42,600 a year, you will receive a partial maintenance grant. If your household income is over £42,600* a year, then you will not be eligible for this grant.

If you are not eligible for the full rate of maintenance grant, your family is expected to make a contribution towards your general living costs and it is very important that you receive this money. At an early stage, discuss with your family how much assistance they will be able to offer you.

How to apply

There are two ways to access the Student Finance England application form. You can use the link below to gov.uk or you will be able to use a link from your UCAS application. Paper application forms are available but we'd advise applying online where possible. Remember, if you think your household income is under £42,600 a year, then ask to be 'income assessed'.

FALMOUTH UNIVERSITY ALSO HAS MONEY AVAILABLE FOR STUDENTS FROM PARTICULAR AREAS OR BACKGROUNDS

When to apply

You'll be able to apply from January/ February 2015 and we suggest that you apply as soon as possible to ensure the best chance of having your money available in the first week of term. You don't need to have a confirmed place in order to apply, just quote your first choice place on your application you can always change it later should you need to.

Repaying your student loans

In the April after leaving university, graduates earning over £21,000 a year will start to make a contribution towards their loans. All such repayments are made automatically through the income tax system and you'll only repay 9% of everything you earn annually above £21,000 (before tax). If after starting to repay the loan, you lose your job or take a pay cut, then your repayments will drop accordingly. From 2016 the £21,000 threshold will rise annually in line with average earnings. The government will write off the unpaid student loan balances which are unpaid, 30 years after you leave your course.

Examples (based on current repayment criteria):

- A graduate earning £20,000 a year would repay £0 a month.
- A graduate earning £25,000 a year would repay £30 a month.
- A graduate earning £30,000 a year would repay £67.50 a month.

Indicative levels of government support, 2015-16*:

The table below is for students from England who haven't been to university before and who will be studying away from home at Falmouth. Only those with a household income of under £42,600 a year will be eligible for a maintenance grant.

The Student Finance Application Process

The diagram below shows the main steps in applying for your funding from Student Finance England. You will be able to do this from January/February 2015. Remember this is done in addition to your UCAS application and the application is done in your name. You should also apply for your finance as soon as you can – you do not have to wait until you've received an offer on a course.

Apply

Open a finance application at either gov.uk/studentfinance or via your UCAS application. If you have a current passport, have this to hand along with your National Insurance Number.

- Enter all your personal details.
- When asked for the title of your course, state the one you have put as your first choice with UCAS (you can always change this later).
- You will also need to submit your passport number if you have one.
- State how much Tuition Fee Loan you need (most students tick 'maximum amount').

- If you think your household income is under £42,600 then ask for your income to be considered when prompted.
- You will then be asked to submit the name and an email address for each adult in your household. This is often your parents when you're under 25 years of age and they will be referred to as your'sponsors.' If you're 25 or over, then it will be your partner, if you live with them.
- When prompted, ensure you give your 'consent to share' information. This will enable Falmouth University to consider you for bursaries.
- Hit 'Submit'.

If not being income assessed

Action by your parents (sponsors)

Student Finance will send your parent(s) an email asking them to register as your sponsors. They should follow the link provided in the email to do this. They will then need to state how much they earned in financial year 2013-14 and Student Finance will then check this against records held by HMRC.

Assessment

Once Student Finance receive all the requested information they'll check that you are a UK student and haven't been to university before. Then they'll calculate your household income. This will consider what your sponsors earn and if they have any other children at university.

They will check that you are a UK student and that you haven't been to university before.

Notifying you of the outcome

Based on the calculated level of household income, they will write to you saying how much tuition fee loan; maintenance loan and maintenance grant you are eligible for. They won't however state what they calculated your household income to be.

They will also send you a Declaration form.

You will get confirmation in writing as to which loans you will receive. Usually this will be the tuition fee loan and the maintenance loan (£3,610pa in 2014-15). They will also send you a Declaration form.

Declaration

You must sign and return the declaration ASAP. Your money won't be released without it.

Enrol on the course

You will be emailed details on how to enrol for your course in early September 2015. You must complete this prior to arrival if you can.

Start at Falmouth

Once you arrive at Falmouth, assuming you've enrolled online, the first instalment of your money will be released during the first week of term.

1 / Apply early

You don't need to have confirmed your place at university to apply for student finance.

2 / Apply online

This allows you to check on the progress of your application and make changes when needed. Do this through gov.uk/studentfinance

3 / Have everything to hand

Have all the information you need to hand before starting your online application and if possible, complete your application with your sponsors (parents/guardians). Required documentation will vary dependent upon your situation. Check what's asked of you.

4 / Use UCAS

Tick the box to 'share UCAS information'. This will automatically input the information about your first choice course and will update as you accept and confirm your place at your chosen university.

5 / Previous study?

Ensure you know what funding you can get before committing to a university place and paying the fees. If you've previously been to university your access to funding may be limited.

6 / Maximum fee loan

Tick the box to apply for the maximum tuition fee loan. You will only ever be able to borrow up to the amount of your fees, but if you change your mind and accept a place at a university that charges more than you initially applied for, you won't be able to change your application to apply for a higher amount.

7 / Get your name right

Make sure you apply for student finance using your full, correct name as it appears on your passport. Any discrepancies will almost certainly delay processing your application.

8 / Remember your sponsor's details

Ensure you submit your sponsors' (usually your parent's) email addresses on your application. They will then be sent a link through which they'll need to submit their income information.

9 / Sign on the dotted line when asked

Remember to sign and return your declaration form. This will be sent to you at the end of the application process and without this Student Finance won't release and pay your funding to you.

10 / Fnroll

In the weeks leading up to the first week of term, you'll be asked to enrol online and it's this process which triggers your grant and loan payments. As long as you have enrolled, your money should then come through to you during the first week of term - assuming your student finance assessment has been completed.

Frequently Asked Questions

When do I apply for my funding?

You should be able to apply from January/February 2015, either through gov.uk or via your UCAS application.

Try to get your application completed as soon as possible and certainly aim to do it before June – even if you're not sure which university/course you'll be attending.

What is an income assessment?

An income assessment means that Student Finance will consider your household income when handling your application. This will usually dictate how much support you're eligible for and it's also the assessment we use to assess your eligibility for some bursaries. As such, ensure you give 'consent to share information' when prompted in your application.

Which income do they assess?

If you ask to be income assessed, they will look at the income coming into the address that you class as 'home' – this will usually be the same as the address on your UCAS application. Key points are:

 If you are under the age of 25 then they will assess the adults living in your 'home' address (unless you can prove you that you should be classed as an 'independent student' – see below).

- This will usually mean your parnet's income will be assessed, but if you live with only one of your parents then they won't assess the parent who lives elsewhere. However they will assess a step-parent (or parent's partner) if they reside at your home address.
- If you are over 25, married, have a child or can demonstrate you are financially independent, then it's your current household that will be assessed (not your parents).
 This will include your partner, if you live with them.
- For the academic year 2015-16, they will assess the household income for financial year 2013-14.

What if my household income changes?

Initially you will be assessed on your household income as per the financial year 2013-14. If your household income is now significantly lower (at least 15% lower) then you can ask Student Finance to reassess you, based on current figures. Use a 'Current Year Assessment' form to do this. You can download this at gov.uk/student-finance-forms and you can ask for this reassessment at any point during the academic year.

Should I worry about my debt?

Unfortunately, accessing student loans is often the only way that most students can afford to attend university. Repayments are taken before tax is paid, so in effect it will be like being paid slightly less each month – not a monthly payment you have to remember to make. Providing you don't default on your repayments, student loans won't adversely affect your credit rating and ability to access other forms of finance, eg bank loans and mortgages. The government has also confirmed that there will be no early repayment penalties.

The levels of repayment are quite generous, so they shouldn't impact too heavily when you start working full-time, and you'll receive regular statements to help you track and manage your finances. See page 3 for more details.

Essentially, the decision lies with the individual, but it is important to remember that your loans are your loans, not mum or dad's, so spend them wisely!

Additional Support from Student Finance

If you are a UK student, who hasn't been to university before, then you might be able to get some extra government support if you have either a disability or a dependant.

This is in addition to the tuition fee loan and maintenance Loan from Student Finance England (SFE) and any university bursaries you might also be eligible for.

Students with dependants

SFE Award

- Childcare Grant. The Childcare Grant could cover as much as 85% of your childcare costs during term time and holidays. If you're eligible, the amount you may get will depend on your household income, the cost of your childcare and the number of children you have. Award levels have yet to be confirmed for 2015-16. This is a non-repayable award.
- Parents' Learning Allowance (PLA).
 PLA helps towards your course costs, such as books, materials and travel.
 For 2014-15 you could get between £50 and £1,508 depending on your household income. You can apply for the Parents' Learning Allowance when you apply for student finance.
 Award levels have yet to be confirmed for 2015-16. This is a non-repayable award.

Adult Dependants' Grant.
 For full-time students with an adult who is financially dependent on them.
 Usually a husband, wife or partner, or another adult (but not a son or daughter). The level of this award depends upon your household income and is up to £2,642 a year in 2014-15. Award levels have yet to be confirmed for 2015-16. This is a non-repayable award.

Students with a disability (including dyslexia)

SFE Award

Disabled Students Allowance (DSA).
 The Department for Business,
 Innovation and Skills (BIS) made an announcement in April 2014 that the government is going to make cuts to the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA) for students entering Higher Education in 2015/16. Falmouth is committed to ensure no student is disadvantaged by the changes and is already looking at how we can best configure our support structures and embed inclusive practice. More information can be found at falmouth.ac.uk/accessibility-service

Further details are available through a range of government publications which can be downloaded from gov.uk/student-finance

Part-time students

Tuition fee loans have now replaced grants for part-time students. To be eligible for a tuition fee loan, you must be commencing your first higher education course and be due to complete a minimum of 25% of the equivalent full-time course load per year. No grants are available for living costs. Please note that fee loans may not cover the full cost of tuition fees, and you will need to pay the difference yourself.

Please contact Student Finance England for more details:

W: gov.uk/student-finance T: 0845 300 50 90

Previous study

If you have previously studied in higher dducation then your eligibility for funding from Student Finance England may be affected. If you have enrolled on a full-time course at some point in the past then you may not be eligible for enough support to cover the full duration of your new course. In general, students are eligible for support in up to four different academic years (three years of study, plus one to cover false starts or transfers). Please check your eligibility before enrolling onto the course and committing to housing contracts.

Not from England? Funding Options

Students from elsewhere in the UK

If you live in Scotland, Northern Ireland or Wales, you will need to apply to your regional finance team for your funding.

The information below is a guide to the non-repayable support you can expect to receive, in addition to any loans that may also be available. To be considered for these grants you will need to be 'income assessed' in order to demonstrate your household income (HHI). For full details on available support, please check the website of your regional finance team, as listed below.

Scotland

Students should apply for support through the Student Awards Agency for Scotland (SAAS). The rates quoted here are for 'dependent' students (under 25). If you're over 25 or 'independent', then you'll get a much smaller bursary rate and a higher loan. All students are eligible for a tuition fee loan of £9,000. At time of going to print, 2015-16 support levels were still to be confirmed.

T 0845 111 1711 W saas.gov.uk

Wales

Students can apply online through Student Finance Wales, who will help cover the cost of fees through a combination of fee loan (£3,685) and fee grant (£5,315). At time of going to print, 2015-16 support levels were still to be confirmed.

T 0845 602 8845 W studentfinancewales.co.uk

Northern Ireland

All students are eligible for a tuition fee loan of £9,000. If you normally live in Northern Ireland, contact the Student Finance NI Contact Centre. At time of going to print, 2015-16 support levels were still to be confirmed.

Students from the European Union

Full time EU students can apply for a tuition fee loan from Student Finance England although your living costs will need to be funded through the authorities in your home country or by your family.

If you have been resident in the UK for three years or more (outside of education) before the start date of your proposed course, then it would be worth checking if you actually qualify as a UK student instead.

Contact the EU customer services team for further advice and an application form:

T +44 (0) 300 100 0607 Opening hours: Mon – Fri, 10am to 4pm W gov.uk/student-finance

International Students (from outside the European Union)

There is no funding available from the UK government for students from outside the EU.

We do suggest however that you consider the following:

 Falmouth bursaries. Each year we endeavour to offer a range of international bursaries. Once we have full details confirmed, we will announce them on our website at falmouth.ac.uk/international/ scholarships

- The British Council. They offer some help to non-UK nationals and details can be found in the 'Funding your studies' section of their website britishcouncil.org. They also issue information through their Education UK Guide, which can also be found on their site.
- Your home authorities. In many countries it's the local educational authorities who look after student funding. It's always worth contacting such departments in your home country to see if funding is available for overseas study.

Falmouth University Awards

We are offering a range of awards that we hope will encourage applications from people who might not have previously considered university study.

These include income assessed bursaries and fixed awards aimed at students with specific additional needs. In order to be considered for the awards below you'll need to have been 'income assessed' by Student Finance. As such, we would advise you to apply for your finance as soon as possible.

Falmouth University and Private Awards

Falmouth University and external trusts offer a number of smaller awards and scholarships to assist our students.

These scholarships are for specific purposes rather than just general living costs and are available once you have started studying with us. Information is circulated to students via University email accounts and may require you to complete an application form. See our separate funding pages at falmouth.ac.uk/bursaries for further details on these and other awards.

Sourcing other funding

Turn2Us is an independent organisation which can advise on benefits and funding support for students with additional commitments (children, dependants, disabilities etc). Their website includes a number of useful tools and can be found at turn2us.org.uk

The Directory of Grant Making Trusts is published by the Charities Aid Foundation and enables grant seekers to search for trusts that might aid them in funding study. Available in most HE Career Centres, including Falmouth.

The Education Grants Directory

provides information on almost 1,400 sources of financial help for students in need. Its listing section includes national and general sources of funds, local sources, statutory funds and student grants, company sponsorship, and career development loans. There is also guidance on selecting the right source of funds for your needs, and advice on how to make an application. Available in most HE Career Centres, including Falmouth.

Hardship support at Falmouth

We strongly advise that you embark on a course of study only once you have a workable budget in place. Will the teaching fees get paid? Do you have enough to pay for your rent? Have you budgeted for materials and trips? However, even with the best planning things can go wrong and it's at these points when you might need a little extra help. In such cases, the first piece of advice is to come in and talk to us. It's only then that we can help you get things sorted out.

The Falmouth Hardship Fund

(formerly the Access to Learning Fund)

Open to all students who encounter an unforeseen financial problem whilst enrolled at Falmouth (not open before enrolment to the course). The fund can't be used to pay tuition fees. Applications are assessed on an individual basis and usually take three to four weeks to complete. For further details please speak to an adviser at the FXU (Students' Union) on 01326 255861 or via fxu.org.uk

Budgeting for University

Before enrolling onto a university course, it's really important that you try to do a budget.

This will help establish what you can afford and what funding you need to apply for. It will also give you an idea of how much money you have to spend each week.

How to make a student budget

Assuming that your fees are already paid (probably by a tuition fee loan as detailed on page 3), here's your plan of action:

- Work out what's available to spend (loans, grants, income from job etc).
 This booklet will give you an idea of what support you can expect from the government and Falmouth University, but also consider if you will be working part-time, will have savings or will be receiving help from your parents.
- Work out your likely costs. We've suggested some typical costs below, but you need to consider both one off or occasional costs and your regular weekly costs. Put a weekly cap on certain types of spending (nights out, takeaways etc).
- Compare your incomes to your costs.Is there a shortfall? Do your figures add up?

Work out what's available to spend (your income)

Your income should include any money from student loans and grants, earnings or savings from a part-time job or holiday job, and any money given as gifts. Don't include such things as interest-free overdrafts as these should only be seen as a safety net to fall back on to at some stage, if needed.

Work out your likely costs (your expenditure)

You're likely to have one-off and occasional costs, which might include:

- Prior to enrolment: You might want to buy yourself a new laptop or equipment for your course which is needed in the first few weeks of term.
- Rent (probably paid termly). If you're in halls of residence, then this will cost about £5,000 for the year, including all bills.
- Course trips. Do you have any? If so, they should be detailed on the welcome letter for your course. This will be sent to you before enrolment, but last year's letters can be found under the New Students section of the website at falmouth.ac.uk/ new-students
- Travel costs. Do you have to pay for travel home at the start/end of each term?

You'll then have your regular weekly costs, and we've suggested some approximate spends:

- Food: £35
- Going out: £25
- Travel/commuting: £10
- Laundry: £3
- Phone contract: £7
- Materials/printing: £20

This all needs to be totalled up.
Using our approximated figures above,
our costs for the year would be:

– Rent	£5,000
Weekly costsx 30 weeks =	£100 per week £3,000

Compare your income to your costs

Does your income cover the majority of your expenditure? Remember, if your household income is over £25,000 a year, then the government is expecting your parents to make a contribution towards your costs (see page 3). If there is a shortfall, can this be covered by part-time work or full-time work in the holidays?
