1. Learning and teaching

- a) To ensure that students are provided with a relevant and stimulating range of learning opportunities and experiences within the subject area, consistent with their overall objectives.
- b) To contribute to the recruitment and selection of students, both UK/EU and International, and to plan for the recruitment of students, including attendance at open days and other recruitment and marketing events.
- c) To undertake such teaching duties as are required by, and agreed with, the Head of Subject, and to keep abreast of international developments within the academic discipline and/or professional practice of the Subject area, and to share this knowledge to shape curricular content, design and delivery.

- d) To set, mark and assess work and provide feedback to students.
- e) To supervise student projects, students on field trips and, where appropriate, on placements.
- f) To ensure that student progress is regularly monitored and that the results of monitoring are reported in a timely fashion to the Head of Subject.
- g) To participate in University wide staff development initiatives related to learning and teaching.
- h) To participate in student support on academic, career and personal development matters.

2. Research, scholarship and innovation

- a) To engage in research, scholarly activity and/or innovation, subject to the approval of the Head of Subject.
- b) To engage with other researchers internally, nationally and internationally, and to contribute to the research objectives of both the School<sup>1</sup> and, where possible, the University's thematic research centres.
- c) To apply for external research funding and to produce high quality outputs for the Research Excellence Framework.
- d) To engage in subject and professional research and pedagogy development as required to support teaching activities.
- e) To extend, transform and apply knowledge acquired from scholarship to teaching, research and appropriate external activities.
- f) To be an active and recognised contributor to subject associations, learned societies and relevant professional bodies.

3. Mentoring and pastoral care

- a) To advise, mentor and support less experienced colleagues and coach on personal development.
- b) To supervise the work of others, for example in research teams, projects or postgraduate study.
- c) To act as a personal tutor and, where required, ensure that the Personal Tutor and attendance monitoring systems are working effectively across a level of study.

4. Curriculum development

- a) To develop and produce appropriate learning materials on the basis of scholarly and research activity.
- b) To co-ordinate the work of colleagues to identify and respond to students' needs.

- c) To be responsible for the design and delivery of own modules and assessment methods.
- d) To collaborate with colleagues on the implementation of assessment procedures and to review student progress and retention.
- e) To tackle issues affecting the quality of delivery within scope of own level of responsibility, referring more serious matters to others, as appropriate.
- f) To develop and sustain a subject contribution of relevance and high quality to postgraduate and undergraduate programmes, including:
  - Assisting in the design and delivery of the curriculum.
  - Achieving a reputation for excellence in the teaching of the subject.

5. Quality assurance and enhancement

- a) To be committed to and play a significant part in the total quality management of the subject area.
- b) To participate in assessment and evaluation of curriculum design and the quality of learning and teaching provided by subject staff.
- c) To make contributions of appropriate quality to awards being prepared for review and/or validation.
- d) To ensure adherence to, and effective operation of quality assurance and enhancement policies and processes.

General duties and responsibilities

1. To perform to high professional standards.
2. To manage independently any errors or concerns at the earliest opportunity, or notify a senior member of staff as appropriate.
3. To use initiative in order to determine priorities, work with autonomy, and work effectively with senior colleagues.
4. To be responsible for your own continuing self-development.
5. To undertake other duties not specifically stated above, which from time to time are necessary for the effective performance of the University's business without altering the nature or level of responsibility involved.
6. To work within and actively support the equality and diversity policies and practices of Falmouth University.
7. To participate in the University's Annual Performance Development Review Process.

Health and safety at Falmouth University

The University takes health and safety matters very seriously. All staff have a responsibility to take reasonable care for the health and safety of themselves and others who may be affected by their actions and omissions. They also have a duty to comply with the University arrangements for health and safety. Staff with responsibility for others must ensure the proper enactment of University policy within their areas in line with levels of responsibility set out in the University's Health and Safety Policy.

Health & safety requirements

- In relation to health and safety you must comply with all relevant legal requirements. You are specifically responsible for ensuring that:
- You comply with safe systems of work in operation within your work area.
- You work co-operatively with other staff who have responsibility for health and safety requirements.
- You report any health and safety concerns to your manager or other responsible member of staff as soon as these are identified.
- You attend training as appropriate to your role (see the relevant health and safety training grid for requirements).
- You may be required to undertake duties as a first aider (for which a separate allowance is paid).
