St Piran's Day

A celebration of Cornwall and all things Cornish
Marking 10 years of partnership.

Programme of events at the Penryn and Falmouth Campuses

FALMOUTH UNIVERSITY UNIVERSITY OF EXETER

Penryn Campus Talks 5 March

Talk 1

11am - 12pm Red Seminar, The Exchange. *A Brief History of Tremough (the Penryn Campus)

The universities' Archivist, Sarah C Jane offers a fascinating insight into the history of the Tremough estate – known to us as Penryn Campus. From Neolithic settlers to medieval pig farmers, a private house to a seat of learning. Come along to find out what we know and what is yet to be discovered...

To book: www.eventbrite.co.uk and search 'St Piran's Day' or call 01326 253795.

Talk 2

1.00pm – 2.30pm Red Seminar, The Exchange. *Drafting Rebecca

This is a workshop for fans of Daphne du Maurier. Dr Christine Fauch, Head of Heritage Collections at the Streatham Campus, will be sharing facsimiles of early drafts of the literary classic Rebecca, and helping participants work out which came first.

To book: www.eventbrite.co.uk and search 'St Piran's Day' or call 01326 253795.

Talk 3

3pm – 5.30pm The Exchange Lecture Theatre.

In Search of St Piran

The Institute of Cornish Studies and the Cornwall Heritage Trust will be joining forces to celebrate St Piran's Day at the Penryn Campus. Donald Rawe, the leading Cornish poet and a trustee of the Cornwall Heritage Trust, will give the inaugural St Piran lecture with a talk entitled 'In Search of St Piran'.

Other events in the afternoon include the launch of a new multimedia platform for Cornish Story, a project about discovering Cornwall's rural past through storytelling, news of other Institute of Cornish Studies projects and Cornish music by Lamorna Spry and others. The event itself will start at 3pm in the Exchange Lecture Theatre and is part of the day of celebration.

To book: www.eventbrite.co.uk and search 'St Piran's Day' or call 01326 253795.

Falmouth Campus 5 March

Talk 4

5pm – 6pm Falmouth Campus Lecture Theatre 1. *Tate St Ives – The Past 25 Years and It's Future

Janet Axten has a long-held connection with St Ives. As personal assistant to leading artists such as Patrick Heron and Bryan Pearce, and co-curator of retrospective exhibitions; co-founder and Heritage Manager of the St Ives Archive; Vice Chair of the St Ives September Festival; Bard of the Cornish Gorsedh; founding member of the St Ives Tate Action Group; lecturer on the town's history and its artists; and author of Gasworks to Gallery: The Story of Tate St Ives, she is uniquely placed to document the gallery's many milestones: its launch; its impact on the local community; its links with Falmouth University and its plans for future expansion.

To book: www.eventbrite.co.uk and search 'St Piran's Day' or call 01326 253795.
