

Short Course to Master's Pathway Award for Falmouth University master's level programmes

In recognition of the commitment to creative learning in your chosen field, Falmouth University is offering a £1,200 tuition-fee discount to applicants who have completed an eligible 'pathway' short course relevant to their linked master's degree.

1. The offer

- £1,200 discount from the full tuition-fees for eligible linked master's degrees starting in January 2026, May 2026 or September 2026. Students will receive their discount either from the full price if paying in full, or from the final course fee if paying in instalments.
- This offer is for new students enrolling onto an eligible master's degree (on-campus or online) in 2026 who have completed an eligible short course with Falmouth University since September 2024.

2. Allocation and payment of the discount

- Student must notify their Course Advisor that they wish to apply for the Short Course to Master's Pathway Award when making their application in a separate email.
- Upon application, students must note that they have completed the short course. Eligibility will be established through Falmouth University's Academy of Continued Education. Their decision is final.
- The discount will be withdrawn for those students who withdraw from their course part way through the year. As such, they will be liable to pay the full rate of fees for the period attended, as per the Falmouth University Fees Policy.
- Students who intermit from their course part way through the year will continue to qualify for the discount upon the resumption of their studies. If an intermitting student instead chooses to withdraw from their course, then the above point will be applied retrospectively.
