

JOB DESCRIPTION

MARKETING AND EXTERNAL RELATIONS

Job title: STUDENT AMBASSADOR

Pay: £13.68 per hour (incl. holiday pay)

Responsible to: Recruitment Operations & Events Coordinator

Date: August 2025

Job purpose: To work as part of a team to support the University in delivering projects, events and activities throughout the year. To be a role model to others, representing your course and the University positively and communicating your authentic student perspective both face to face and virtually. To inform, inspire and influence prospective students to consider studying at Falmouth University by sharing your own experiences of living and studying here.

Main duties and responsibilities

On-campus events & activities

1. Deliver individual or group on campus tours, talking knowledgeably about the University, its facilities and courses, highlighting any unique selling points and answering any questions in an informative and engaging manner.
2. Host school/college campus to campus, delivering tours and escorting groups to academic workshops and other bespoke sessions.
3. Assist with the set-up and delivery of key University events including Open Days, Welcome Weekend, applicant interviews, VIP events, graduate shows, Graduation and other events.
4. Support university staff and the Student Ambassador Scheme with ad-hoc administrative/office work e.g. calling campaigns, putting up posters, user testing, organising events stock etc.

External events & activities

1. To support University staff at key influencer events, promoting Falmouth University and its courses, participating in student panels, workshops and presentations and answering questions from a student perspective.

2. To travel with or without a member of staff to Higher Education (HE) Fairs e.g. UCAS and events in schools and colleges across the UK representing Falmouth University and its courses. This includes setting up a branded stand with promotional materials, proactively engaging with prospective students and capturing data on an iPad.

Online

1. Attend Webinars and Virtual Higher Education (HE) Fairs alongside staff, talk knowledgeably about the University, student life, courses and facilities. Engage with prospective students, teachers and agents, answering questions to give an authentic student perspective.
2. Occasionally produce creative content for use on the University's social and digital platforms, which showcases student life at Falmouth, in an imaginative and engaging way. E.g. blogs, vlogs, illustrations, animation, social media takeover. Content could cover anything from promoting student work, advice about how to apply, a day in the life and top tips, to favourite hang outs, social life and our stunning location. If this is the type of working you are interested in doing regularly, then you can apply to be a Digital Ambassador once you have been recruited as a Student Ambassador (see more about additional roles below).

These are examples of typical activities, but there may be events, projects and activities throughout the year in addition to these, which you can opt to work for.

Additional roles

Student Ambassadors will also have the opportunity to apply to the following roles when there are spaces:

- Equity Ambassador - Encourage and inspire underrepresented young people to consider University as an option by delivering presentations and facilitating workshops with school and college students, promoting Higher Education and university life and raising aspirations.
- Digital Ambassador– Representatives from all courses, countries, groups etc to be present on an online chat platform, answering questions from prospective students and directing them to the appropriate information within an agreed time period. Digital Ambassador responsibilities also include working live virtual events and creating blogs, vlogs and social content.
- Senior Ambassador – The role is a step-up from being a Student Ambassador with additional responsibilities at events and in the recruitment, training and mentoring of student ambassadors. Seniors are expected to do their research and demonstrate a thorough knowledge of the University's, campuses, facilities and courses as well as expert knowledge of their own academic department

General duties and responsibilities

1. To perform to high professional standards as outlined in the Student Ambassador Code of Conduct.
2. To manage independently any errors or concerns at the earliest opportunity, or notify a senior member of staff as appropriate.

3. To use initiative in order to determine priorities, work with autonomy, and work effectively with senior colleagues.
4. To be responsible for your own continuing self-development.
5. To undertake other duties not specifically stated above, which from time to time are necessary for the effective performance of the University's business without altering the nature or level of responsibility involved.
6. To work within and actively support the equality and diversity policies and practices of Falmouth University.
7. To undertake any training and induction required for the role.

Health and safety at Falmouth University

The University takes health and safety matters very seriously. All staff have a responsibility to take reasonable care for the health and safety of themselves and others who may be affected by their actions and omissions. They also have a duty to comply with the University arrangements for health and safety. Staff with responsibility for others must ensure the proper enactment of University policy within their areas in line with levels of responsibility set out in the University's Health and Safety Policy.

Health & safety requirements

In relation to health and safety you must comply with all relevant legal requirements. You are specifically responsible for ensuring that:

- You comply with safe systems of work in operation within your work area.
- You work co-operatively with other staff who have responsibility for health and safety requirements.
- You report any health and safety concerns to your manager or other responsible member of staff as soon as these are identified.
- You attend training as appropriate to your role (see the relevant health and safety training grid for requirements).
